THE PROSPECT BEFORE Us .- During the present year the exportation of bread and provisions to Europe will exceed that of any preceding; and any diminution in the cotton crop will produce an augmentation of price, more than sufficient to cover the diminution in quantity. As the country is full of manufactures, foreign and domestic, the importation of additional fabrics will not pay for all the produce exported; and hence a large balance will be paid to the country in coin. This will produce a great inflation of paper currencies, which inflation will produce great speculation in stocks, great adventure in trade, importations to supply such extravagance. The cul- drawn. tivation of produce for the next year will greatly inbe greater than those of any preceding year. If Eu- Channing; "but I foresee that the next will be all rope should be visited with another unfavorable season, irony and raillery." we should have another year of great exportation of produce, great importation of coin, great inflation, speculation, overtrading and extravagance. If the By an act of the Legislature of Indiana, passed January next season should be favorable in Europe, the prices 1847, the county commissioners of each county in the State of our extensive crops will be reduced too much to are authorized to send one student to Wabash College, for pay the balance. If every bank in the Union could be Reducing 1, 1847. restrained, from this day, from ever uttering another TABLE. you secure the above system. note, the coin now coming into the country would remain, to supply the place of the paper continually passing from circulation, till the whole currency were coin. Then the coin in the country, in whatever quantity, however excessive, being money everywhere, and incapable of expansion or contraction by any device of credit, would be used in the legitimate business of demand and supply, or not used at all. Excess of coin may produce excess of business, but that business cannot be embarrassed by any extinction of the maney on which it is founded, for the coin still remains, with its value unimpaired. But as paper may have a certain value to-day and none to-morrow, excess of paper must always be followed by an extinction, annihilation of money, at the very time when, debt being greatest, and demand of payment most pressing, money is most needed. A silver dollar always comes when called, a silver dollar still, and nothing else. A paper dollar often comes not when called, because a loud call kills it. The distinction is important and we commend it to all the State Legislatures which, during the ensuing winter, will have any concern with banking .- Phil. Ledger.

A GREAT MAN.-George Lippard, in his new work called the Nazarine, thus speaks of President Jackson :- " HE WAS A MAN! Well I remember the day ! waited upon him. He sat there, in his arm chaircan see that old warrior face, with its snow white hair, even now. We told him of the public distressthe manufacturers ruined, the eagles shrouded in crape, which were borne at the head of twenty thousand men into Independence Square. He heard us all .-We begged him to leave the deposites where they were; to uphold the GREAT BANK in Philadelphia .-Still he did not say a word. At last one of our menibers more fiery than the rest intimated that if Tu BANK were crushed, a Reneution might follow. The the old man rose-I can see him yet. "Come!" he shouted in a voice of thunder, as his clutched righ hand was raised above his white hairs-" Come with bayonets in your hands instead of petitions-surrounce the White House with your legions-I am ready for you all! The above is an extract of a letter of introduction to D. Preston of Logansport, Ind. CAMBRIDGE CITY, Ind., Nov. 20th, 1846. Knowland's system of cutting is amongst some fifty or sixty different works on garment cutting that we have purchased and tested, with a view to rid ourselves of the disagreeable necessity of altering garments. We found no relief from those difficulties until we received instructions in the above system; since which all those troubles have vanished. We therefore with the utmost confidence recommend it to the trade generally. CUSTER & HAMILTON. Respectfully, INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 30th, 1847. This is to certify that Matthews & Knowland's system, as Invented by J. Knowland, has proved itself in my hands to be fully equal to what it is recommended to be, and I am hold to say, that to supercede it with another, is impossible. No one, after getting a correct knowledge of it would dispense with the use of it for very rich. J. C. REED.
